WORK OF CONGRESS.

Democrats Opposing the Election Bill.

JUDGE GRESHAM'S DECISION.

By Which Counselman and Peasey Are Held.

The Election of the President of Switzerland.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—On motion of McKenna of California the House passed the Senate bill appropriating $10,000 to reimburse Charles Felton, formerly Assistant Treasurer of the United States at San Francisco, for losses incurred in the payment of forged checks.

After some unimportant business the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Fortifications Appropriation bill.

The House Committee on Banking and Currency to-day adopted a resolution to request the House to set apart a day for the consideration and disposition of Chairman Dorsey's bill to reduce to $1,000 the minimum amount of United States bonds which the National Banks shall be required to keep on deposit, and to permit the issue of circulating notes by the National Banks to the full amount of the par value of the bonds deposited. This would, it is said, increase the amount of money in circulation by $18,000,000, and would result in a freer issue of National Bank notes. When the bill comes up in the House Dorsey will move an amendment to provide for the issue of greenbacks whenever the National Bank circulation falls below $18,000,000.

The bill was agreed to without discussion, together with a bill appropriating $400,000 to meet the deficiency in the appropriation for public printing and binding.

In the morning hour Taylor of Ohio, from the Committee on Judiciary, called up and the House passed the bill amending the revised statutes. The amendment provides a penalty for any person having custody of the ballots and returns after an election is held who shall alter such returns, or erase the name of any candidate from any of the ballots in his custody, or in any way alter or deface the same with an intent to affect the result of such election.

A bill was passed providing that the personal property formerly belonging to the Mormon Church, but which was forfeited by Congress and placed in the hands of a receiver, shall be placed in the common school fund of the Territory of Utah, which was the disposition made of the real estate held by the church.

Without completing its consideration the House laid it aside as unfinished business and went into Committee of the Whole on bills reported from the Committee on Public Land.

SENATE.

Mitchell offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the Post-office Committee to inquire into the feasibility and advisability of a law for a postal savings bank in connection with all or certain classes of Post-offices throughout the country.

The resolution offered yesterday for the daily meeting of the Senate at 11 A. M., and for recesses from 5 to 8:30 P. M., was taken up. The discussion was kept up amid considerable excitement on the floor and in the gallery until 2 o'clock, when it went over without action.

The election bill was then taken up and Wilson of Iowa addressed the Senate in its advocacy.

Not Greater Than the Law.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Judge Gresham this morning decided the petitions for writs of habeas corpus presented in behalf of Charles Counselman, the Board of Trade man, and James Peasey, treasurer of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company, and held in both cases that the orders of the District Court adjudging them in contempt, and that they should be fined and imprisoned, was fully authorized. Counselman and Peasey were remanded to the Marshal.

A Swiss Election.

BERNE, Dec. 11.—A united meeting of the State and National Councils to-day elected Dr. Wettl as President of the Republic and Hauser as Vice-President for the year commencing January 1, 1891.

The Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A reactionary spirit was still strong in the stock market this morning, and while the changes in the opening prices from those of last night were quite irregular, they were in a majority of cases declines. The general list was dull, but there was great activity in St. Paul and Union Pacific, the former declining $\frac{1}{2}$ and the latter $\frac{1}{4}$.

Later the trading developed no feature whatever, and at 11 o'clock the market was quiet and firm, a shade better than at the opening.

Stocks were dull after 11 o'clock, but some stocks made fractional advances, which brought everything up above the opening figures.

The general market showed no feature of interest and at noon the market was dull and firm at the best prices of the morning.

After 12 o'clock there was a marked increase in activity, and material advances were made. Rock Island rose $\frac{1}{4}$, Northern Pacific 1, St. Paul 1, Union Pacific $\frac{1}{2}$, sugar $\frac{1}{4}$.

Later on prices reacted slightly, and finally closed dull and firm at the best figures.

Still in Session.

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—At the convention of the Federation of Labor this morning Chairman Gompers appointed a committee to formulate the views of the federation on the subject of an eight-hour day. A resolution was adopted, asking the federation to head off the immigration of laboring men from Europe during the coming World's Fair. A resolution asking the federation to support woman suffrage was reported favorably. The convention resolved to extend its sympathy to the striking Alabama coal miners. A resolution looking to a more discreet use of the boycott was passed.

Fatally Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Mamie Haggerty, a sixteen year-old servant, died to-day, while being removed to the hospital, from burns received, from her clothing being set on fire from a Gasoline stove.

Want Their Wages.

ANNISTON (Ala.), Dec. 11.—A thousand men employed by the United States Rolling Stock Company here have struck because they have not received any pay for four weeks.

Charged With Embezzlement.

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—Henry B. Blue, a clerk employed by Thomas H. Perkins & Co., stock brokers, was arrested to-day, charged with the embezzlement of $17,000.

AUGUST BELMONT'S DUEL.

By Which He Was Crippled for Life.

The duel which resulted in laming August Belmont for life was the outcome of a chivalrous defense of woman-kind. The young man was with a theater party in a box at Washington, and as they passed out they commented on the grace and beauty of a lady in another box. William Hayward of South Carolina, overhearing the remarks, made a remark which reflected brutally upon the whole sex. The young banker, though much smaller than the Southerner, hotly resented his comments. Facing the South Carolinian young Belmont said in deliberate tones: "The dog who would utter such a sentiment insults the memory of his own mother, and is unfit for the company of decent men." Hayward turned livid with rage and replied: "You shall hear from me." Dueling was in fashion in those days, and Belmont was challenged. He was wounded in the left leg below the knee and his opponent escaped unhurt. The young banker became the hero of the hour. The unwitting cause of the duel was Mrs. Oscar Coles, a well-known society lady. This was in 1841.

New Hay Rates.

The following rates will take effect from points named to San Francisco on December 13th inst.:

Andersons—28-foot cars, $30; 30-foot cars, $32.38; 32-foot cars, $34.75; 34-foot cars, $39.

Hufaker's, Mount House and points between—28-foot cars, $32.50; 30-foot cars, $34.88; 32-foot cars, $36.25; 34-foot cars, $40.

Wabush—28-foot cars, $45; 34-foot cars, $56.25.

The actual weight not to exceed 20,000 pounds. Excess will be charged at proportionate rates.

BREVITIES.

R. W. Parry, who a few days since was kicked by a horse, is still suffering great pain from the hurt.

Jasper Pendleton, a former resident of Reno, who, for several years has resided at Quincy, Plumas county, Cal., is in town on his way to lower country where he will locate.

A Pleasant Evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society gave a very pleasant social at the residence of Mrs. Judge Webster last evening. A short program was well rendered, after which refreshments were served. The party broke up about 11 o'clock, and it was the verdict of all that it was the most enjoyable affair of the season.

WRECKED STEAMERS.

The Indian Excitement Abating.

SUICIDE OF AN EX-SENATOR.

The Old Man Eloquent De- clares Himself.

Election of Wade Hampton's Successor.

Gladstone Gives His Views.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Gladstone arrived to-day at Retford depot and addressed a meeting of 2,000 persons. He said the continuance of Parnell in his leadership would be fatal to home rule in England, Scotland and Wales; that Parnell was no longer the leader of the Irish Nationalists, who had separated themselves from him. He (Gladstone) admitted that the Irish party ought to be independent, and that the consideration and settlement of this question ought to be left to them. But there was something beyond all considerations in Irish politics, and that was the great cause of Liberalism in England, Ireland and Scotland.

Gladstone said the trouble respecting the Irish leadership was an additional reason for granting home rule. Why should English and Scotch and Welsh politics depend upon the choice of a leader, or the confidential communications between the Liberal and Home Rule parties? He believed the O'Shea divorce proceedings would entirely destroy the moral force needed in Ireland for any one who would be a leading champion of a national cause. The Liberals felt that in granting home rule they constituted the Irish leader the Constitutional ruler of Ireland, and the Liberals were unwilling, after what had appeared in the divorce suit relative to the private and public conduct of Parnell, to make him the Constitutional Governor of Ireland. It was absolutely untrue that Morley had suggested that Parnell should hold office under the British Government before home rule was conceded. The Liberal party's work in Parliament was to resist coercion in Ireland, and that work was as sacred and as urgent now as it had ever been, no matter who might be the leader of the Irish party.

Gladstone subsequently addressed an audience of 5,000 persons at Work-sop. He said the determination of the Liberals was irrevocable; that they could not undertake effectually to support the cause of home rule at the next election in connection with one particular name. He pointed out the importance of continuing the struggle for Ireland, declaring that legislation for England will not be obtained, until the country has got rid of the home rule question.

Steamers Ashore.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The steamer Veendam, from New York of Rotterdam, is ashore at Maaslie. All efforts of the tugs to pull her off were fruitless.

The Oriental mail steamer Nepel stranded on Plymouth breakwater last night. She went aground at low water and as the tide rose she rapidly filled, and it is believed she will be a total wreck. No lives were lost. Her cargo was insured for $100,000.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following nominations: Theo D. Wilson as Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Chief Constructor of the Navy, with the relative rank of Commodore; Joseph H. B. Prince as Postmaster at Healdsburg, Cal.

Producers' Conference.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—A secret conference of the producers of Western and Northern Pennsylvania was held last night. The object of the meeting is not known, but it is surmised it was to form a Producers' Alliance to act against the Standard Oil Company.

Could Not Stand Defeat.

UNADILLA (N. Y.), Dec. 11.—Ex-Senator Frank B. Arnold shot himself through the head this morning at his office here. Despondency caused by his defeat at the late election was the cause of the act.

Wade Hampton Shelves.

COLUMBIA (S. C.), Dec. 11.—J. L. M. Irby was elected United States Senator to-day to succeed Wade Hampton.

An Exciting Contest.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—The struggle for the possession of the United Ireland has assumed a new phase this morning, and again Parnell is in possession. The opponents of Parnell, who succeeded last night in forcing an entrance into the office and destroyed all the leaders prepared by Leamy, were appointed yesterday to succeed Bodkin, the acting manager, during the absence of William O'Brien. They left a guard in possession, with orders to resist any attempt of Parnell or his friends to enter the building.

This morning Parnell proceeded to the office, and with the assistance of a crowd of his supporters, forced open the doors and took possession. The police witnessed the affair but did not interfere. After he had succeeded in recapturing the office, Parnell went to the window and addressed the crowd outside. To guard against any further attempt of his opponents to recapture the office, the doors and windows were bolted and barred. When the office was secured against intruders, all conversation was carried on through the keyhole. When Parnell made his assault upon the office this morning he was armed with a crow-bar, which he used in forcing open the front doors. When he appeared at one of the windows of the office he shouted that he would fight the battle to the last; that he would only allow the country to decide the issue, and that he would submit to the dictation of no man. He appeared to be fiercely excited and to have lost his usual self-control. Afterwards, in company with McCough, Solicitor for the National League, he drove to the railway station to take a train for Cork. Crowds lined the streets, and the windows of the houses were filled with spectators.

Parnell received addresses from the local branches of the National League, and at Kildare he made a speech to a crowd at the station. At Monasterevan, there was an anti-Parnell demonstration when the train arrived, by a priest leading the opposition and cheering for O'Brien. The clergy of North Kilkenny deaneary have denounced Parnell and support the candidacy of Sir John Pope Hennessy, the Parliamentary nominee of the anti-Parnell faction.

False Indian Reports.

BISMARCK (S. D.), Dec. 11.—Major McLaughlin, agent of the Standing Rock Indian agency, is in town to-day. He says there is no danger of an outbreak and never has been. He says the reports from Standing Rock of the cattle stampede by the Indians and the exchange of shots near Buffalo Gap are a canard. No cattle have been run off by the Indians except their own stock.

Sitting Bull and his followers are still keeping up their ghost dance on the Grand river, but the wild enthusiasm is rapidly abating. The Major thinks a week more of cold weather will stop the dancing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—General Schofield to-day received a dispatch from General Miles, of which the following is an extract: "The reports from General Ruger and General Brooke are favorable. The presence of the troops now in position had a demoralizing influence upon the Indians, and those that a week ago were defiant and war-like are now giving evidence of submission. Captain Eilers of the Fifth Infantry has returned with Hump from Bennett. Hump desires to renew his allegiance to the Government, and I will make good use of him in bringing in the others."

A Trainman's Strike.

LEADVILLE, Dec. 11.—Eleven crews of thirty-three men, comprising the freight brakemen and conductors on the Second Division of the Colorado Midland Railway, running between Leadville and Grand Junction, have struck for an advance.

High Priced Land.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 11.—Advices from the Cherokee Nation are to the effect that Chief Mayes has received a telegram from the Lucas Cattle Company of Colorado, asking him if he will entertain a bid of $300,000 for the Cherokee strip.

Excise Duties Reduced.

PARIS, Dec. 11.—The Government proposes to reduce the excise duty on beet roots in order to conciliate the sugar manufacturers of the country.

Another Failure.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Wenable & Heymen, wholesale liquor dealers, assigned to-day, giving preferences of over $30,000.

A Friendly Call.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The British cruiser Melpomene stopped here a few hours to-day on her way to Esquimaut, B. C.

THE SKIN.

Is an important factor in keeping good health; if it does not act in the way intended by nature, its functions are performed by other organs,—the Kidneys and the Lungs; and the result is a breakdown of general health.

Children Enjoy

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be constipated or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

"Is this the best?" Is the question often asked, when medicine is wanted. The following are a few of the medicines of known reliability, sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggists of this place. They have many other excellent medicines, but these are worthy of special mention:

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of severe colds, and as a preventative for croup. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm, a general family liniment and especially valuable for rheumatism. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the most reliable known medicine for bowel complaints. It is especially prized by persons subject to colic. It has cured many cases of chronic diarrhoea. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

St. Patrick's Pills for disorders of the liver and bowels, a vigorous but gentle physic that cleanses and renovates the whole system. Price 25 cts. per box.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. For itching, salt rheum, scalds, head, corns and chronic sore eyes. Price 25 cents.

A Safe Investment.
Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggists a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at Wm. Fininger's Drug Store.

Merit Wins.
We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's Life Pills, Bucklin's Kidney and Bladder Pills, and have never had a single remedy that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merit. Wm. Fininger's Drug Store.

The question has been asked, "In what respect are St. Patrick's Pills better than any other?" Try them. You will find that they produce a pleasant cathartic effect, are more certain in their action, and that they not only physically cleanse the whole system and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale at 25 cents per box, by Shoemaker & Co.

The Place to Buy.
A. Nelson, of the Free Intelligence Office, Virginia street, carries a fine stock of the best tobaccos, Havana and Key West cigars, notions, cutlery, gloves, suspenders and Dr. Willey's Discovery.

Bucklin's Arnica ointment.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. For sale at 25 cents per box, by Wm. Fininger's Drug Store.

You will be glad to use for spectacles if you use Dr. J. H. McLean's Salve. It removes the film and steam which accumulate on the eye, cures inflammation, cures and soothes the irritated nerves, strengthens weak and failing sight, 25 cents a box.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Watson's Sore Throat Syrup should always be used for children's sore throats, cures the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures colds, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

FATALLY ASPHYXIATED.

One Man Dead and Two More in a Critical Condition.

The Virginia Chronicle of the 10th inst. says: "About 2 o'clock this morning Harry Chappel, Tim Leary and Jack Stephens, three miners employed at the Chollar, put off eighteen machine hole blasts from a raise in the north drift of the 850-level. Descending to the drift, about fifty feet below, they awaited the explosion, and in about ten minutes afterwards they ascended the raise with the intention of resuming their work, when they encountered the poisonous gas, which proved fatal to one and nearly so to the other two.

John Holland, who assisted the three men in placing the "snuffs" under the fuse, detecting the odor of the fumes, supposed something was wrong with the blower, and went around to see about it. Upon his return he found Stephens lying on the second floor of the raise in an unconscious condition. Alone and unaided he conveyed him to the drift, and then went for help. Upon the arrival of men from another part of the mine, Leary was found lying on the fourth floor, nearly unconscious, having evidently fallen to that point from a number of sets above. Ascending still further, the rescuing party found Chappel at the seventh floor, and to all appearances dead. At all events, no signs of life were manifested at the time he was discovered, and the vital spark was certainly extinct before the body reached the surface. Stephens and Leary were in a dazed condition, and were unable to give a coherent account of the accident.

Drs. Boyes and Richardson were immediately sent for, and the suffering men placed under their charge for treatment, while the body of Chappel was taken to his late residence, which is a short distance from the Chollar works.

The accident was not the result of an explosion, as was reported. It was asphyxiation, caused by the generation of poisonous gas from the fumes of the giant powder used in the blasts. The raise was well ventilated, and had a draft of fresh air from a pipe constantly blowing into it. Dirt from the blasts, however, filled the pipe for a distance of twelve feet, shutting off the ventilation and affording no means for the powder smoke to escape, or to become neutralized by contact with air from above.

A GOOD MARKET.

A Suggestion That is Given for What It Is Worth.

Why can not some enterprising farmer find a market for a good deal of hay in Washington? The GAZETTE understands that hay in California sells readily at Seattle for $20 a ton, and it can be laid down there for $6 per ton at the outside figures. Potatoes are selling in the markets on the Sound for two cents a pound. The GAZETTE believes that if the question were investigated it would prove a profitable market for much of the surplus, both of hay and spuds. Let some rustler look into it. Why sit idly by and wait for the good things in life to come to your door? The man who does will die of dry rot, while the energetic man will accumulate a competency.

THE BEEF MARKET.

What Hon. T. B. Riekey Says About Beef Cattle.
From Hon. T. B. Riekey, who came up from below this morning, the GAZETTE learns that the beef market is no market at all, so to speak. Every old cow in the State of California is being driven into San Francisco as "beef," and the butchers do not seem to pay any attention to quality. Mr. Riekey fears that feeders in this section will not see any better market than the present this winter. It is poor encouragement to feed prime steers and get them rolling fat, and then have to compete with California cheap and poor cow beef at that.

"Romeo and Juliet."
Miss Adelaide Moore will appear at McKisick's Opera House on the 18th in "Romeo and Juliet." She comes to us highly recommended by the press of the old world. The London Post says of her: "Great is the vitality of Shakespeare. The Globe has been remarkably well attended of late and the management appear more than satisfied with the reception accorded to 'Romeo and Juliet.' Miss Moore's 'Juliet' has great freedom, intelligence and personal attractiveness. If you miss this you miss a treat."

San Francisco Meat Market.
The following are the rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers in San Francisco:
BEEF—First quality, 10¢; second quality, 9¢; third quality, 8¢.
VEAL—Quotable at 6¢ for large and 5¢ for small.

The old State officers are around the stores inquiring the price of grip-sacks.—Carson Appeal.
Of course, what have not gone already. They have sucked the lemon as dry as they can and have nothing to keep them here, not even a house and lot, but the State will live just the same.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

Alvaro Evans Never Tires of Well-Doing—His Latest Venture.

Alvaro Evans is a man of many enterprises. He has done more in the past thirty years to make Nevada habitable than twenty Fairs, Jones, Mackays or Hobarts. He has reclaimed more country from the savages, made two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, and is to-day possessed of more vim and get-up-and-get than the whole gang of millionaires who have grown rich at Nevada's expense. If Nevada had fifty men within her borders with Alvaro Evans' enterprise and business tact, she would not to-day be lumbering along in the last ditch, waiting for a good gas to blow her away, but would soon be settled up with thrifty homes and a happy and prosperous people. The ditch he is now constructing just north of town will do more to add to our prosperity than any place of work that has been undertaken for years. He has accumulated a comfortable competency by his labor and has enough to live on, what few remaining years of his allotted time is left to him, without struggling to reclaim more country. But the old man is not made of that kind of stuff that ever tires of well-doing. His latest venture is to start a soap factory on the river with a capacity for making 50,000 pounds of all kinds of soap per week. He has gone into the business with a determination to make it win, and he will do it. If any merchants in Nevada are away from their soap now, they will prove false to every tie that goes to make a prosperous commonwealth, for Mr. Evans can supply as good an article and as cheap as any dealer on the coast. He has secured the services of F. H. Mulachy, one of the oldest and most experienced soap men in the country, and put about $10,000 into the plant. The old giant is a rustler from away back, and if anyone thinks he is an old, worn-out back number, they will get left. The GAZETTE only wishes we had more men in the town like Alvaro Evans.

The Journal is to have a "business manager," and C. H. Stoddard is said to be the man.

The delinquent tax list in Nye county takes up six and a half columns in the Belmont Courier.

It is reported that Jim Holbrook, the present Deputy State Controller, will be retained by R. L. Horton.

Sample copies of the WEEKLY GAZETTE and STOCKMAN sent to any address. The number issued to-day is a star number.

By pricing those stylish White House winter suits you will be surprised to see how cheaply you can be nicely and comfortably dressed.

S. Jacobs, the merchant tailor who has rented the Barnett corner, is having three nice show windows put into that structure—two on Virginia street and one on Commercial Row.

The Evans brothers are feeding 1,150 head of steers in Paradise Valley for the San Francisco market. Godchaux & Brandenstein are feeding 450 head of cattle at their ranch near Willow Point.

Charles Templeton Crocker, son of Colonel Charles F. Crocker of San Francisco, has entirely recovered from the injuries received by a fall over the bannisters at his father's residence a few months ago.

Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive cure for rheumatism. By its purifying action, it neutralizes the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body. Give it a trial.

PERSONALS.

Lon Harris, a C. P. detective, went east this morning.

Colonel Boyle returned last evening from a trip to Silver Lake.

Hon. H. P. Dangberg of Douglas county was in town this morning.

Hon. T. B. Riekey returned from California on this morning's express.

Mrs. E. D. Kelley, daughter arrived last evening from Winnemucca.

Hyman Fredrick returned this morning from a business trip to the Bay.

Messrs. Sears and Warner returned last evening from Walker Lake Indian Reservation, and left for Pyramid this morning.

A Timely Storm.
A gentleman who has just returned from Genoa informs the GAZETTE that the snow all over Carson Valley is fully a foot in depth. It rained there for twelve hours before it commenced to snow and the ground became pretty thoroughly soaked before it was covered. The farmers in the valley say it is a most beneficial storm for them and occurred just at the right time to put the land in excellent condition for the spring planting. They are confident of fully as abundant crops next season as were produced in that section during the present year.

Gained One Vote.
The Austin People's Advocate says: Hon. T. J. Bell, one of the Democratic nominees, was elected to the Assembly from Nye county at the late election, beating Thomas Warburton, one of the best citizens of that county. The returns only showed a majority of one vote, and upon a recount it was found that Bell's majority was really two.

The World's Fair.
George Russell is in from Elko and is enthusiastic about the World's Fair. He is anxious to know what Nevada is going to do towards a display. The GAZETTE suggests that it engage a space big enough to hang up a shingle with these words painted on it: "Don't disturb Nevada, for she is asleep."

Auction Sale.
I will sell at auction Saturday, December 11, the following articles to wit: Five heating stoves, 4 bedsteads, 5 mattresses and household and kitchen furniture. Sales to commence at 12 o'clock in front of the Opera House. C. W. Boorss, auctioneer.

H. H. BANCROFT.

The High Position Held by One Historian.

It is a source of pleasure and pride to Pacific Coast people to know that our own historian, Hubert Howe Bancroft, stands in the very front rank of America's distinguished literary men. That wonderful historical series, which it has taken so many years to complete, has made him famous the world over. A brilliant array of eminent scholars of Europe and America, including Herbert Spencer, Huxley, Dr. John W. Draper, Emerson, Bryant, Holmes, Howells, Wendell Phillips, Whittier, Longfellow, Sir Arthur Helps and scores of others whose names are familiar to book-loving people, have come forward and testified to their appreciation of his genius. Diplomas and complimentary certificates from scientific and literary institutions have been showered upon him. Yale College has conferred the honorary degree of Master of Arts. That powerful and independent journal, the famous London Times (The Thunderer), devoted two whole columns to a review of Bancroft's works, and England's most dignified journals have discussed at length each separate volume as it appeared. Now comes the news that Hubert Howe Bancroft has received a number of votes for a place among the famous "Immortals," an honor that those who know what the "Immortals" are will appreciate. A new work which the author has been engaged on for years has just appeared from Mr. Bancroft's pen. It is called "Literary Industries," and is the graphic story of a great achievement told by a master hand. The nature of the work is such that it will have a remarkable sale, especially on this coast, where many of the people mentioned are well known. The work is to be sold by subscription, and the publishers want responsible agents to receive orders. We call attention to their advertisement under "Help Wanted."

Struck the Golden Mean as a Blood Purifier.

The Detroit Free Press says: "Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, prepared by the Charles Wright Medicine Company, of this city, has struck the Golden Mean in the treatment of all blood diseases, and its success is an evidence that an honest, pure and valuable medicine, is not incapable of attracting the attention of every family. There seems to be but one opinion as to its merit as a family medicine. This is the real secret of the success of this wonderful remedy. Its perfect and speedy action, in removing all impure and poisonous matter from the blood, the home should be without it, as a thorough and effectual blood purifier for young and old. For sale by all druggists."

Man Steal Soap, the Bowls, Combs and Towels.
A Cincinnati Hotel Bookblack Chas. About the Queer Characters He Meets—Wonderful Nerve Displayed by Eloquent Individuals.

"What class of men pay you best?" was the query of a Cincinnati Times-Star reporter to Charley, the fat bookblack at the Gibson House. "Well, I guess drummers. I have had drummers come in after making a good sale, and they would get cleaned up and shined up, and hand me a quarter and refuse the change. I tell you there's nothin' too good for a drummer when he's made a dandy sale. Some men the more they get the meaner they get, but not your commercial traveler. He's a dandy every time. And then I have regular customers of gentlemen about town. Governor Foraker comes in. He wants a good shine, pays for it, and goes away satisfied. Sometimes we have a man come in who objects to paying ten cents for a nickel comb, and will stand and argue the case with you. Why, it takes nearly a dime's worth of blacking to get around some men's feet."

"Sometimes men think this is included in the board, and insist on not paying for it. I have had men come in here, walk up to the stand, cock up their feet, get out a brush, open the blacking-box, and proceed to shine their own shoes. When I get over being paralyzed at their gall I tell them to get up on the chair and I'll blacken their shoes; that I make my living that way. I had a fellow do that on me one day, and when I saw he was about rinsing my brushes rubbing the mud off. I told him to put it down, and he did, and declared he would report me. I told him to go ahead and report. I was looking out for my own property. I guess he changed his mind. Cincinnatians are 'purty' well shod as a rule. They wear 'purty' nice shoes. How many towels are used here in a day? Three or four hundred. Sometimes we have to change them after once using."

"Why, I've seen men come in here, walk up and down till they saw a good, clean towel and then stand and wipe the perspiration and dirt off their faces. They will wipe and then look at the towel, and then wipe again and look just to see how much dirt comes off. Of course that towel has to come down. No, they don't think of washing the dirt off; they want to see how much dirt they can get off on the towel. They take a dry wash. How many men come in here to wash are guests at the hotel? Not half of 'em. Why, we've put men out of here often. Regular loafers, you know. These bum politicians about town are the worst. Got a gall? Well, haven't they? We stand 'em as long as we can and then run 'em out. Why, fellows come in here who carry off soap. That's done nearly every day. Before we had the hair brushes and combs fastened with rings, just hooked on, they used to carry them away. Why, there are fellows who come in here who would carry off the wash-stand if it wasn't fastened."

"There are fellows who never see any soap until they come in here, and then sometimes we don't see it when they're gone. Then a good many men don't half wash. They will just wet the dirt on their hands and face, and then rub it off on the towel. A man came in here the other day, set down his satchel, opened it, took out his brush and blacking and proceeded to shine 'em up himself. I told him I could do it better than he could. Well, he 'reckoned not,' and finished the job—made a good one off it, too; and then he had me brush him off nicely all over, and paid me just the same as though I had blacked his shoes, and then he walked away. Funny fellow, wasn't he? But you ought to see the towels fly when the races are on and the hotel is crowded, and especially at night, when they come back from the races all dusty and begrimed from head to foot."

"Then we have to hustle up the clean towels. But they're good fellows to pay. I'll bet this is the most popular wash-room in town. Bet more men wash here in a day than at any place in town. It's right here on one of the busiest streets, in the center of the town, and no trouble to drop in. Then there's hot and cold water, and they can get a good shine, and in five minutes they can go out again like new men. A good wash braces a man up. There, see that fellow. Wipe the dirt off; never wash; that towel was just put up, but down she comes," and so Charley and his partner kept going all day long, taking down and hanging up towels, rubbing off the splashed marble wash-stands, taking the soap off the water, emptying the bowls and keeping the wash-room the "slickest-looking place in town." The reporter visited the wash-rooms of all the other leading hotels of the city and found the same conditions existing and the same order of complaints.

RUINED BY FICTION.
Women Whose Lives Are Marred by the Power of Fictitious Novels.

What does a young girl know of life save what she hears and reads? I would rather, remarks a correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution, take an innocent young creature through the worst part of New York City at midnight than put bad books into her white hands. There is little romance or allurements in naked human vice, but those clothed with a poet's fancy, beautified by the imagination, is another sort of thing.

There is so much in a girl's commencing right in the things she reads. It is often the making or marring of her whole future life.

There are women to-day forty years old still living in the pernicious books they read. They started with bad books in their teens. They followed bad heroines, and may, according to their own diseased minds, find themselves an improvement on the creatures they imitate. They are, if not actively vicious, silly, unnatural creatures whom everybody ridicules and nobody respects. I know a young woman who has been acting out French novels all her days to the best of her ability, with the result of dressing like a guy when she means to be artistic, acting like a coarse woman when she means to be a siren, and talking absurdities when she means to be enchanting.

TRUE TO MADELINE.
A Pretty Story Told by Emile Zola, Master of French Fiction.

You remember, my friends, that sweet spring-time when we went to see him in his little house at Clamart? Jacques met us with his amiable smile and we dined under the arbor covered with virgin vines, while Paris beyond murmured in the falling night.

You never knew his life. I, who grow up side by side with him, can tell you of his heart. He lived at Clamart for two years with his little blonde wife, who died so quietly. It is a history sad and heart-breaking.

Jacques had met Madeline at the fete at St. Cloud. He began to love her because she was sad and suffering. He wished before that poor child was laid away in the ground to give her two seasons of love. So he went to hide himself with her in that little plot of ground at Clamart, where the roses crowded each other like flowers gone crazy.

You know the house. It was very modest, all white, hidden like a nest in the green foliage. Jacques little by little was possessed with an infinite love for the dying one. He watched the maddening ground daily with bitter tenderness. Madeline, like a wax night taper which throws a brilliant light just before it goes out, illumined the white house with her blue eyes.

During two seasons the child seldom went out. She filled the tiny garden with her charming spirit, her light robes, her gentle footfalls. It was she who planted those wild gilly flowers from which she made us bouquets; and the geranium, the bell-trope, the rhododendrons only lived through her and for her.

She was the soul of that corner of nature.

Then autumn came. You remember Jacques came to us and said huskily: "She is dead."

She had died under the vine-grown arbor like an infant that falls asleep, at that hour when the sun is sinking to rest. She had died in the midst of those verdures in the wild gap where love had soothed two years of her agony.

I never saw Jacques again.

I know that he still lived on at Clamart, under the arbor in memory of Madeline.

Soon the siege commenced. I was so broken with fatigue that I thought no more of him. But the morning of the 13th, learning that they were fighting on the side of Mendon and Sevres, I saw again in memory the little white house hidden by green foliage.

So I left the gate of Vauves and walked on. The roads were encumbered with wounded, so I arrived at Moulins, where I heard of our victory; but when I turned the wood and entered the gap a terrible emotion tore my heart.

Before me on the ravaged ground I saw no longer the little white house, nor a mass of blackened timbers and stone where the torch of the incendiary had passed.

I descended the hill with tears in my eyes.

Ah! my friends, what a terrible catastrophe had taken place. You remember the hawthorn hedge, it was razed to the ground by the cannon. The great gilly flowers, the geraniums, the rhododendrons, torn, faded, scattered. I felt a real pity for them, as if they were the torn members of friends of mine.

The house was torn on one side, displaying openly the room of Madeline that had been closed since her death.

This room, opened brutally by the cannon of the Prussians, this alcove of love, from which one could see the whole range of the valley, made me think that I stood in the cemetery of my youth.

The sun covered the debris with a golden glory, bringing into brighter prominence the devastation. Jacques must have abandoned the house when it was fired upon.

I walked on.

I entered the green arbor where we had dined together. By a miracle it remained intact.

There on the ground in the midst of a pool of blood Jacques slept, his breast wounded by twenty bullets.

He had not fled from the virgin vines he loved; he died where Madeline died.

I picked up at his feet his empty cartridge box, his broken rifle, and I saw that his poor dead hands were black with powder. Jacques for five hours alone with his gun had defended the white phantom of Madeline!

Death Attributed to Pickles.
In commenting on a recent case of death attributed by a coroner's jury to the action of pickles which had been eaten a short time previously, the London Lancet says: "There was here an evident connection between the alleged cause and its effect, but some further explanation is certainly desirable. Notwithstanding the naturally stimulant property of these condiments, this is, to our minds insufficient in itself to account for fatal choleraic diarrhea. The facts of the case are much more suggestive of the introduction of some irritant poison. The vinegar of pickles has frequently been found to contain metallic impurities, notably copper, derived from the vessels used in their manufacture. Corrosive sublimate and other irritants have also been detected, and the presence of some such mischievous addition should probably be blamed in this case for the fatal issue."

Electricity in Lion-Taming.
The use of electricity is offered to the lion-tamer in the form of a light wand with an insulating grip from the hand, connected by a flexible wire with a battery of which the power can be varied at will. An experiment with this form of applied science has been successfully tried.

MISCELLANEOUS.

OUR NEW DEPARTURE!

The story is told of a man, who took the hands of his clock to the maker to have them fixed, because they did not keep proper time. Of course, the clock-maker demanded the story, as in them lay the trouble. Bulls and blotches, pimples and other eruptions on the exterior tell of a disordered condition of the blood within. If you have these indications, be wise in time, and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the liver and kidneys in good working order, purifies the blood, cleanses the system from all impurities, from whatever cause arising, and tones up the functions generally.

"Golden Medical Discovery" checks the frightful march of Consumption of the Lungs (which is Lung-scurf), purifies and enriches the blood, thereby curing all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Ulcers, Sores, Swellings and kindred ailments. It is tonic and strengthening, purifies the blood, cleanses the system and restores vitality, thereby dispelling all those lingering "fired feelings" experienced by the debilitated. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetanus, Spasms, Erysipelas, Strepia, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is the only blood and lung remedy, sold by druggists, and guaranteed by its manufacturers, to do all that it is claimed to accomplish, or money paid for it will be refunded.
